Kennedy Calls Leaders in for Talks on Laos

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy called congressional leaders of both parties to the White House today to discuss the explosive situation in Laos.

In announcing this, White House press secretary Pierre Salinger would add only that Kennedy wanted to "bring them up to date on the situation in Laos."

But at the State Department, it was disclosed the United States has strongly voiced directly to Russia its concern over "obstructionism" delaying a cease-fire in Laos.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Laotian government today proposed a cease-fire at noon Friday as fears rose among some Westerners in Laos that resistance to pro-Communist rebel attacks was nearing collapse.

The call for a cease-fire was broadcast by radio and given to the Russians for relay to the Pathet Lao rebels, but there was no indication of any quick agreement from the rebel side.

Western sources in Vientiane, the administrative capital of Laos, said there was no report of major fighting since the rebels Wednesday captured Muong Sai, a trading village 55 miles north of Vang Pheang, the royal capital.

These informed quarters referred to the dropping morale of royal army soldiers, battered by the Communist-supplied Pathet Lao in the weeks of political maneuvering for a truce.

Whether the new airlift of arms to royal troops, launched Wednesday by the U.S. Air Force, could stem the tide was a question. Washington declared the flow of arms will continue until a cease-fire is reached.

Both sides have agreed to a cease-fire but the rebels appear in no hurry to agree to a date as long as they continue to extend their control over wide areas of Laos.

In New Delhi, the three-power commission to supervise a truce haggled over the same issues that wrecked the commission in 1958—freedom of movement in rebel territory. Members are Canada, Communist Poland and Canada.

Bulletin

NEW YORK (AP) — Gambler Aaron Wagner has been indicted on 37 counts of corruption of 11 basketball players from six colleges during the last two seasons, Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan announced today.

The schools named were the University of Connecticut, St. Joseph's of Philadelphia, the University of Tennessee, LaSalle College of Philadelphia, Mississippi State and Seton Hall.

Presbytery Officials Convene

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The 534 commissioners of the Southern Presbyterian Church — officially the Presbytery Church, U.S. — convene today for their annual assembly, faced by a wide range of problems.

Election of a moderator to succeed Dr. Marion A. Boggs of Little Rock is the main business tonight.

Following that, the church leaders will struggle for six days with such questions as rewriting the confession of faith on the issue of predestination—whether man has free decision on his acts and viewpoints or whether they are determined wholly by God.

Other problems include charges that the National Council of Churches has been infiltrated by pro-Communists, merger with other church groups and the church's attitude toward capital punishment.

Reports prepared by committees will give the National Council of Churches a clean bill of health, and will declare that present statements on predestination are inadequate for the present knowledge of the Bible.

All issues may be debated from the floor by the commissioners, equally divided between laymen and ministers. The commissioners vote their own views, not those of their churches.

The Southern Presbyterian Church broke with the Presbyterian Church U.S.A., 100 years ago over the Civil War.

The Southern Presbyterians have 889,196 members in 19 states and the District of Columbia.

Two Foreign Legion Groups May Disband

By DAVID MASON

ALGIERS (AP) — Two tough Foreign Legion regiments that supported the short-lived generals' revolt in Algeria may be disbanded, a French government spokesman said today.

The spokesman said "it was possible" the regiments would be disbanded as part of the government crackdown on all civilians and military men who followed Gen. Maurice Challe in his four-day mutiny.

Police and soldiers sweeping through Algiers during a night-long curfew rounded up 5,000 arms hidden by civilians. The sweep prompted long lines of civilians to turn in their arms at police stations today.

The government spokesman said all French regiments in Algeria—including the two Foreign Legion units that participated in the abortive coup—were now taking orders from the government of President Charles de Gaulle.

The three other retired generals who joined Challe in leading the coup—Raoul Salan, Andre Zeller, and Edmond Jouhaud—were still fugitives, but the spokesman said the government had a rough idea of their whereabouts. He refused to be specific, however.

It was reported in Paris, without official confirmation, that the aircraft carrier Arromanches was standing off the coast near the Foreign Legion camp at Zeralda to prevent any escapes by sea from there.

Gen. Challe is in a Paris prison. He gave himself up Wednesday after escaping with his confederates.

The two units that may be disbanded are the famed 1st Foreign Legion paratroop regiment and the almost equally renowned 1st Foreign Legion cavalry regiment.

They are elite shock units with proud battle streamers from major engagements in modern French history.

De Gaulle's policy of self-determination for Algeria—which will almost certainly lead to independence—has cast doubt on the future of the whole Foreign Legion. Under the French constitution, no legion unit can be permanently based in metropolitan France, and Algeria is the last big overseas French possession.

SEVEN INJURED — Seven persons were injured in Little Rock, Ark., when a 70-mile-per-hour wind whipped through the city during the late afternoon rush hour. Buildings were toppled and traffic was jammed for hours. Two of the injured were hospitalized.

Fight Results in One Man Being Shot

A fight which resulted in a shoot-out left two men injured late yesterday in the Little Bodcaw area in Lafayette County near the Hempstead County line.

Autrey Foster, 46, was rushed to a Texarkana hospital for treatment. He was shot in the face with a 12 gauge shotgun by Eugene Cunningham at the latter's home. Foster also fired a shotgun at Cunningham but the barrel blew up.

Cunningham is in the Lafayette County hospital at Lewisville where he is being treated for severe cuts and bruises sustained in a fight with Foster. The condition of Foster is believed to be satisfactory. One of the shot from the shotgun lodged in his eyeball and at first it was feared he had lost an eye. A report today indicates his eye is responding to treatment.

Prosecuting Attorney Royce Weisenberger said Foster and Cunningham got into a fight in which Cunningham was badly beaten. The prosecutor said that when Foster let his victim up, Cunningham ran into his home and got a shotgun. Foster also got a gun from his car and both men fired at each other. The Foster gun barrel blew up and the shot from Cunningham's gun hit him in the face. Witnesses took both men to hospitals for treatment. Mr. Weisenberger said no charges had been filed as the Lafayette County Sheriff hadn't completed the investigation.

Firemen were called to Ben Ratliff's store at the end of South Main Street yesterday where a small feed house was slightly damaged by fire from burning trash.

Four Arkansans Oppose Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A compromise bill to provide federal aid for depressed areas which passed the House 223-193 Wednesday was supported by two of Arkansas' six congressmen.

Reps. Wilbur Mills and J. W. Trimble voted for passage.

Reps. Dale Alford, E. C. Gathings, Oren Harris and Mrs. Catherine Norrell voted against passage.

More Schools Involved in Cage Scandal

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Three senior members of St. Joseph College's NCAA third-place basketball team and one player from LaSalle College are involved in the 1960-61 basketball gambling scandal, college authorities said today.

The Very Rev. J. Joseph Bluet, president of St. Joseph College, said Jack Egan, Vince Kempton and Frank Marjowski have been expelled from school.

The LaSalle player named was Ed Bowler, a sophomore, who said in his Jersey City, N.J., home he had not been expelled from school yet.

Father Bluet in a statement said St. Joseph had been informed Wednesday by the New York District Attorney's office that previous assurances given by the students that they were not involved were untrue.

All three St. Joseph players, third-place National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament finishers, St. Joseph was defeated by Ohio State in last month's semi-finals at Kansas City, but beat Utah in a consolation game to wind up what had been regarded until now as a "Cinderella season" for a team lightly-regarded.

Screened Behind Board Action

HAZEN, Ark. (AP) — The Hazen School Board, at the suggestion of former state Sen. Jerry J. Screeton, has accused the Arkansas Education Association of "trying to be dictatorial."

In a resolution, the board said it would not pay teachers for days they attend AEA meetings, would not discriminate against teachers who refused to join the organization and would ban distribution of its literature to Hazen students without specific authorization.

Nearly all the state's 15,000 white teachers are AEA members and schools customarily are dismissed for its meetings.

The Hazen board, of which Screeton is a member, said the AEA had tried to use public school students as "instruments for dissemination of propaganda pertaining to controversial public issues."

Screeton was a supporter of Gov. Orval E. Faubus, a frequent foe of the AEA, when he was in the legislature.

Screeton was hanged in effigy at Hazen High School recently. That incident was attributed to the dismissal of some teachers.

Jobless Bill Goes to JFK for Signature

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today passed and sent to President Kennedy a bill providing an estimated $200 million benefits for needy children of unemployed parents.

Action came on a voice vote after brief debate.

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today passed legislation carrying an estimated $200 million in benefits for needy children of unemployed parents.

The House quickly cleared the compromise bill Wednesday. No Senate opposition is apparent.

This will be the sixth of the 16 items on Kennedy's legislative priority list to reach the White House. He submitted the list in February and has since expanded it considerably.

The fifth point to be cleared by Congress, the $394 million depressed areas bill, was passed by the House Wednesday and sent to the White House. Kennedy is expected to sign it today.

Another major item on the list, minimum wage legislation, virtually was wrapped up in final form Wednesday by Senate-House conferees. Full agreement is to be reached on Monday, with floor votes coming up later next week. A bitter fight is expected in the House, since the compromise bill will be close to the Senate version.

Some of the points are expected to make progress today in Senate subcommittees.

The housing group plans to complete its work on the President's $3.2 billion 1961 housing legislation.

The education subcommittee headed by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., begins its closed-door consideration of the $2.3 billion public grade and high school grant bill.

Survivors of Invasion Reach U.S.

By GARTH JONES

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Five survivors of the ill-fated invasion of Cuba reached U.S. shores today and the federal government immediately raised a wall of secrecy.

The 17,000-ton bauxite ship that rescued the five from a life raft in the Caribbean Tuesday docked at the Reynolds Metals Co. aluminum plant across Corpus Christi Bay from this city.

About 75 newsmen and a cluster of Reynolds workmen were barred from the dock area by a ring of uniformed plant guards. The newsmen and spectators could see no sign of the five.

The five fled the Cuban invasion beaches when Fidel Castro's forces crushed the attack last week.

The men found a life raft and floated into the Caribbean where they were picked up Tuesday by the SS Louise, operated by the Caribbean Steamship Co., a subsidiary of Reynolds Metals.

Dave Clinger, a spokesman for Reynolds, told newsmen that "the government is concerned that some of the Cubans will want their pictures taken or their names published."

McClellan Says Missile Strikes Near Sabotage

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., called for more testimony today about missile base strikes and work slowdowns he pictured as something that "borders on subversion."

McClellan said he wants additional details from missile contractors working at Cape Canaveral, Fla., and other bases before hearing from his Senate investigations subcommittee.

Henry Gable, a Texas electrical contractor working on six Canaveral projects, swore Wednesday that labor union leaders there have deliberately slowed the missile program.

"There is no way the Communists could do this nation's missile effort the damage done by labor at Cape Canaveral," Gable said.

But he said with emphasis he believes no Communists are involved in what he called "rotten" abuse of union power at missile bases.

Gable heads the Gable Electric Service of Dallas. He said he hopes for a chance to send his Texas staff onto his six Cape Canaveral jobs to show their fellow union members what can be done and the savings possible.

In its first two days of inquiry, the subcommittee has received sworn testimony from many witnesses that strikes, slowdowns and featherbedding practices have held back the pace and grossly inflated the costs of missile development, testing and production.

No witness has given a closer estimate than "millions of dollars" for the extra costs.

Robert E. Dunne, a subcommittee staff investigator, and J. J. Bevis, a government accountant, told about well-paid ditchdiggers and other workers at the Vandenberg base in California and at the Cape Canaveral base.

Dunne and Bevis said an electrician's $3.50 hourly wage rate can produce a weekly pay check of $674.50 as overtime amounts into quadruple time.

Dunne and Bevis said spot checks for one week last September and one week last January showed plumbers, pipefitters and electricians at Vandenberg were better paid than the commanding general of the base.

They said plumbers and pipefitters drew wages of $420 to $733 a week, including overtime computed at up to four times the regular rate; electricians $413 to $670 a week. Maj. Gen. David Wade, the commander, got pay and allowances totaling only $365 a week.

They wrote that common laborers, including ditchdiggers, earned up to $287 during the weeks checked—more than the pay and allowances of astronauts. The laborers' foreman, they said, made $434—more than the secretary of the air force.

Burial Vault Case in Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Oral arguments were completed Wednesday in three U.S. District Court suits in which 11 Lincoln County residents seek to recover $30,200 they invested in burial vault manufacturing firms in Louisiana, Alabama and Georgia.

Judge J. Smith Henley will take the case under advisement after briefs are filed by opposing attorneys.

The 11 contend that S. R. Baugh of Lincoln County and W. P. Crawford of Little Rock induced them, through alleged misrepresentations, to buy stock in the corporations.

Baugh and Crawford were directors and stockholders of Arkansas Vault Corporation. Each of the out-of-state corporations paid Arkansas Vault $15,000 for a franchise.

Baugh and Crawford denied that they misled the plaintiffs, and filed a cross-complaint for $135,000 damages for slander.

Plaintiffs are James L. Boone, Guy L. Gill, J. E. Bradshaw, I. A. Chambers, Fred W. Thornton, Fletcher Harvey, Clyde E. Fish, Jack B. Jackson, G. B. Ryland, Glenn Lovell and T. S. Lovett Jr.

4 Arrested for Arson Post Bonds

Four men have been charged with arson in connection with the March 6 burning of a 1956 Chevrolet automobile in Clark County near the Nevada County line, it was learned here today.

Prosecuting Attorney Royce Weisenberger said today that E. E. Davis, Prescott, who operates an auto agency here, his 18-year-old son, a student, and Gilbert P. Morris, 22, Prescott and Jessie L. Hawkins, a Negro of Prescott, have posted $1,000 bonds each in Clark County Circuit Court pending trial.

Mr. Weisenberger said the latter three, with the knowledge of E. E. Davis, are accused of first trying to push the vehicle over a bluff in the Okolona-Highway 67 junction area, and burned the car when it lodged on some trees.

The Prosecuting Attorney credited Sgt. Milton Musier and Lt. Tudor of the Fire Marshal's Arson Squad with carrying out the investigation last week which led to the arrest of all four men.

'Telescope' Is Sent Into Space Today

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A complex "space telescope" was fired into orbit today to explore radiation mysteries of the universe.

The 95-pound satellite named Explorer IX sped away from this test center at 9:17 a.m. in the nose of a 76-foot Juno I rocket. All four stages of the booster ignited successfully and propelled the payload into orbit at nearly 18,000 miles an hour.

More than two hours after launch the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced that "tracking stations at Johannesburg, South Africa; Woomera, Australia; San Diego, Calif., and East Grand Forks, Minn., confirmed that the satellite is in orbit."

The exact orbital path and other details were not immediately known. The telescope was aimed at a course which would swing it between 300 and 750 miles above the earth.

Project officials said good signals were being received from the satellite.

The success gives U.S. scientists the world's first astronomical observatory in space.

The assignment is to study space rays outside the air envelope which interferes with reception on earth.

The shot looked good from the start.

At a news conference later Charles Cole, the project engineer of Jet Propulsion Laboratories which made the upper stages of the rocket, said the launching appeared to be normal and there was every indication orbit was achieved.

He said confirmation could not be made until the satellite had made one pass around the earth.

Dispute in Red River Navigation

PARIS, Tex. (AP) — A brief dispute over the feasibility of turning the Red River into a cargo-carrying waterway broke out Wednesday at a hearing on improving the river.

Col. Howard W. Penney, U.S. District engineer at Tulsa, Okla., said a representative of several railroads who testified had "taken out of context" comments in a Corps of Engineers report.

The railroad representative was Donnell Gullatt of Washington, D.C., who spoke against making the river navigable. He represented the Texas and Pacific Railway, the Missouri Pacific Railroad and the Texas and New Orleans Railroad.

Gullatt said "the army engineers have repeatedly stated that the river was not capable of being made navigable."

But Penney said the remark was taken from a report made in 1945 which said "provision of navigation facilities in or along the Red River presents a grave problem," but did not say it was impossible.

Also, Penney said, the report spoke of making the river an open channel operation and engineers now talk of making the river navigable through a series of locks.

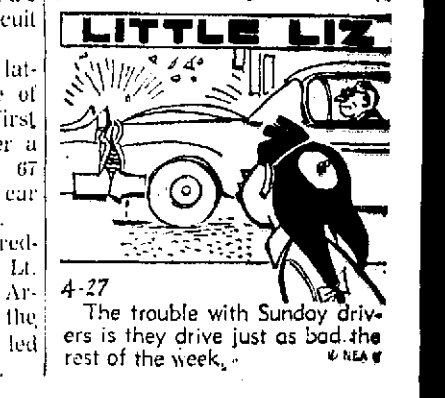

Gullatt said there was a "gimmick" and a "sleight-of-hand" aspect to suggestions by waterway proponents and the engineers that freight traffic on the river would repay taxpayers for improving the river by lowering prices of goods they buy.

"This whole theory is a very dubious one," said Gullatt.

Penney said slowly, "I take a little bit of issue with you. . . . we in the Corps of Engineers are taxpayers too."

The hearing was the third and final one before the corps starts a 4-year, $400,000 study on improving the Red. This hearing concerned the river from Denison Dam to Fulton, Ark. Earlier hearings were at Shreveport and Alexandria, La.

The corps' report will be submitted to Congress.

No Speculation on La. Inquiry

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Chief Asst. Atty. Gen. Jack Holt Jr. has declined speculation on Arkansas' response to invitations to intercede in a Louisiana integration case.

Arkansas Atty. Gen. Frank Holt is recuperating from an operation and Jack Holt Jr., his nephew, said the matter will be discussed as soon as possible.

A three-judge federal court called on attorneys general of all hearing the case Wednesday 50 states to outline their views on the legality of school closing as an integration matter.

Attorneys general of 14 Southern states, including Arkansas, earlier had been asked by Louisiana Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion to intercede in the case.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has attacked the constitutionality of a Louisiana law which provides for local option elections to determine whether schools faced with integration will be closed.

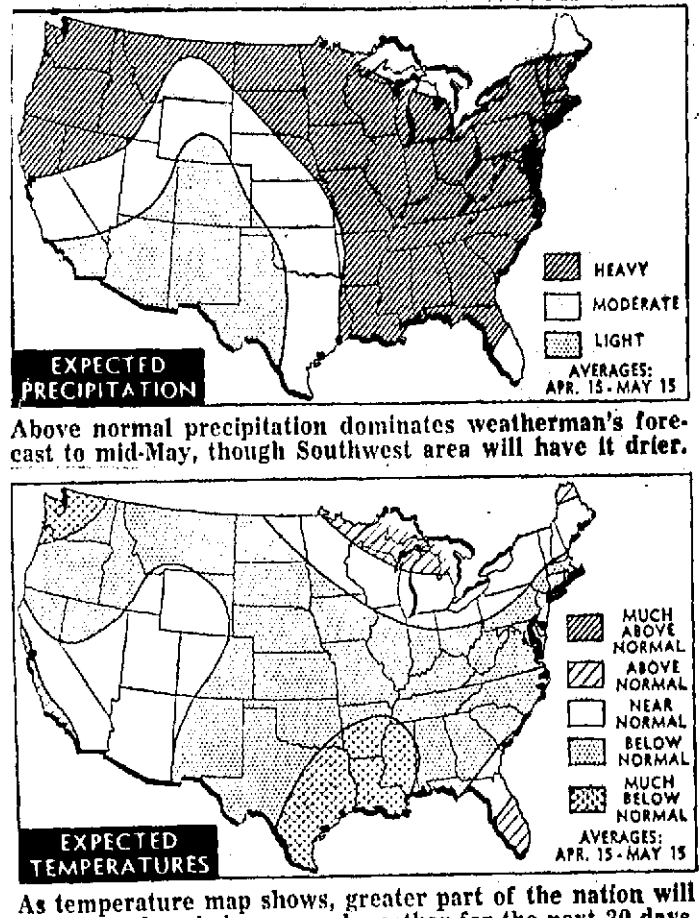

Residents of St. Helena Parish last Saturday voted overwhelmingly in favor of closing schools rather than integrating them.

Husband and Wife at Odds on Fishing

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: My husband is a sailor and likes to fish. He and his friends and their wives go fishing. I don't like fishing; so I'm left out. When the fish aren't biting and my husband has to stay home with me and the four children, he is so unhappy he could die.

If I say anything about us going with him, he says he can't get me and the four kids in a boat. The ladies that go with him have none. I can't see where they have any more right in that boat than I. Please help. —Lonely Wife

Dear Lonely Wife: It's a simple matter of you and the children either becoming enthusiastic fishermen or staying home. Fishing is a hobby along to put the hex on it. Buy some tackle. Practice in secret, or at least until you can surprise your husband with a meal of fish-caught by you and the children.

Dear Helen: I come from a family of 15, and 16 years old and have lots of friends. My parents allow me out only three days a week. I have to be in the house by 11:30 even though I work and pay my own way. When any boy comes to see me, they take one look and say, "He's a tramp!" with the result I have to meet them the second time on street corners. I love my parents but—! Friends say I should leave home. Should I? —Sick at Heart

Dear Sick at Heart: Even though you earn your own living you are still a minor and as such must obey your parents for, should anything happen to you, under the law they would be responsible. If your parents persist in the belief that all your dates are tramps, the least they can

Family enjoys convenient living, more privacy with extension phones

By DON DAVIS, Telephone News Writer

"A phone in our bedroom is really convenient, because it's nice and quiet there, and I have complete privacy," says Jay Brandstetter, who spends a lot of time arranging club, civic activities by phone.

"My wall phone," says Mrs. Brandstetter, "is the handiest thing when I'm working in the kitchen. Bonnie Jay likes it, too, because it is low enough for her to reach easily."

Like many families nowadays, Jay and Lucille Brandstetter and their two daughters, Sharon and Bonnie Jay, are really on the go.

No doubt that's why they're quick to take advantage of today's modern conveniences—such as colorful extension telephones—that help them get more things done. The Brandstetters, for instance, have three phones in their seven-room house.

"I just don't see how we'd manage without extension phones," Mrs. Brandstetter says.

Why don't you enjoy the time-saving convenience, the privacy and the security of extension telephones? Just call the telephone business office or ask any telephone serviceman. Cost is low.

Survivors of To Coordinate Varrious U.S. Departments

BY JACK ADAMS

WASHINGTON (AP). — President Kennedy said today he intends to appoint an officer to coordinate ethical standards in the government's executive departments and agencies.

This officer would report directly to him, Kennedy said in a special message to Congress on conflicts of interest.

"Regulation of ethical conduct," Kennedy said, "must be coordinated in order to ensure that all employees are held to the same general standards of conduct."

At the same time, Kennedy proposed a broad overhaul of conflicts of interest laws. He also urged adoption of specific codes of conduct in every government agency relating to private contacts with big business. Kennedy was understood to have a "no exception" rule in mind on such contacts, which would include members of Congress.

White House aides described the message as the most far-reaching document on ethics ever submitted to Congress by a president.

Kennedy said he will, by executive order, shortly blueprint those things which a government employee may not do if he wants to continue on the payroll.

Kennedy did not indicate whom he intended to appoint to the ethics post. But, there is immediate speculation that the job might be offered to James M. Landis, former dean of the Harvard Law School.

Last December, Landis, 61, special assistant to the President for regulatory agencies, prepared a report on the agencies for Kennedy, then President-elect. Among other recommendations, Landis proposed that an office be created within the executive branch to "assist the President in discharging his responsibility of assuring the efficient execution of those laws that these agencies administer."

Kennedy said he would charge his ethics coordinator with these responsibilities:

Preparing for presidential proclamation general regulations as needed.

Developing methods of informing government personnel about ethical standards.

Conducting studies and accumulating experience leading to more effective regulation of ethical conduct, including the formulation of rules in areas not yet regulated.

Clearing and coordinating agency regulations to assure consistent executive policy.

Kennedy expressed the view that "no web of statute or regulation" could hope to meet all possible challenges to a federal employee's integrity or his devotion to the public interest.

"The ultimate answer to ethical problems in government," Kennedy said, "is honest people in a good ethical environment."

And, the President affirmed a confidence in the integrity and dedication of the vast bulk of government workers. "Venal conduct by public officials in this country has been comparatively rare," he said.

However, the President said he intends to issue executive orders to:

Prohibit gifts to government personnel which appear to be designed to influence official conduct.

Forbid government employees from using for private gain official information which is not available to the general public, such as for stock market speculation.

Prohibit employees from seeking "anything of economic value" from anyone whose private interests may be affected by actions of the employee or his agency.

Our cost for raising money in Greater Waco is less than 5c per dollar given and no national agency can approach that figure. Too, we decide the allocation based on need for the agencies participating. The donors in our area are kept informed on how and where their dollars are used.

HIS AND HERS
BALTIMORE (AP) — The man and woman were begging money as a team near the bus terminal, but the man did all the talking. He asked one pedestrian for a dime for himself and something more "for my girl friend."

"What's the matter?" asked the pedestrian. "Can't the lady ask for her own dime?"

"She's no panhandler," said the bum, with a touch of indignation.

Family enjoys convenient living, more privacy with extension phones

By DON DAVIS, Telephone News Writer

"A phone in our bedroom is really convenient, because it's nice and quiet there, and I have complete privacy," says Jay Brandstetter, who spends a lot of time arranging club, civic activities by phone.

"My wall phone," says Mrs. Brandstetter, "is the handiest thing when I'm working in the kitchen. Bonnie Jay likes it, too, because it is low enough for her to reach easily."

Like many families nowadays, Jay and Lucille Brandstetter and their two daughters, Sharon and Bonnie Jay, are really on the go.

No doubt that's why they're quick to take advantage of today's modern conveniences—such as colorful extension telephones—that help them get more things done. The Brandstetters, for instance, have three phones in their seven-room house.

"I just don't see how we'd manage without extension phones," Mrs. Brandstetter says.

Why don't you enjoy the time-saving convenience, the privacy and the security of extension telephones? Just call the telephone business office or ask any telephone serviceman. Cost is low.

National MD Week April 30-May 6

As we embark upon the celebration of National Home Demonstration Week, it will represent the embodiment of what we are and not what we are to become. It will be a focus in retrospect, for it is your past with its ideals, traditions, and program activities that has made us grow. This is as it should be; but National Home Demonstration Week celebration will be much more than a tribute to our past. Accompanying retrospective focus will be the expression and projection of new purposes, programs, and the launching of new traditions; for indeed it is the past that makes us grow, it is through preparation for the future that we live. This is the reason for the continued theme during National Home Demonstration Week April 30-May 6, 1961 - "Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World".

In the 22 counties, 10,500 home demonstration club members will have an opportunity to put its meaning in motion.

Let us join over seven and a half million other women throughout the United States in the annual celebration.

According to Miss E. L. Ford, home demonstration agent, several county and community activities will be carried out; clean-up campaigns, county tours, community recreation, families worshipping together, broadcast, and workshop.

Struggle of Jews Related in Trial

By RYMAN MORIN
JERUSALEM (AP)- Adolf Eichmann's lawyer, after a fierce battle with the prosecution, succeeded today in delaying admission into evidence of affidavits taken by an American interrogator before the Nuernberg war crimes trials of 1946.

The interrogator was identified as Smith W. Brookhart, former member of the U.S. staff at the International Military Tribunal. After a long and heated struggle, Supreme Court Justice Moshe Landau, president of the court trying Eichmann, postponed decision on the affidavits until Tuesday. He instructed Dr. Robert Servatius, lawyer for Eichmann, and Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner to come into court prepared to plead the issue.

Earlier in the day, a witness testified that Nazi Germany wiped out "overnight" the fruits of a 20-year struggle by European Jews to improve their social and political position. Eichmann, listening intently, began scribbling rapidly on a pad of paper in the prisoner's dock. He was one of the early members of the Nazi party, joining it in 1931 when it was still outlawed in Austria.

The witness was Dr. Salo Wittmayer Baron, professor of Jewish history at Columbia University in New York City. "The Nazi movement showed that, even in a highly developed country, it was possible to turn back the clock. The steady development from 200 years of struggle by the Jews was set back overnight," Baron said.

The period between the two world wars, he said, marked the "high point of Jewish emancipation in Europe." The prosecution put Dr. Baron on the stand to delineate the social and political position of the Jews in Europe at the moment when the Nazis came to power, and to show the extent of the damage wreaked between 1933, when Adolf Hitler came to power, and 1945, when he committed suicide amid the ruins of the Third Reich.

Prior to his appearance on the witness stand, Eichmann's attorney, Dr. Robert Servatius, sharply questioned Capt. Avner Less of the Israeli police, who interrogated Eichmann over a period of eight months.

Less repeated that Eichmann's dictated statements - amounting to more than half a million words and now part of the court record - were given freely and not "under duress." Servatius led Less through a series of questions about the circumstances of the tape-recorded testimony by Eichmann, part of which was played last week. He asked whether "undue influence" had been used on Eichmann, and whether he was told to answer questions about certain matters and not about others.

"I take it there is an intent behind these questions," said the president of the court, Supreme Court Justice Moshe Landau. "May I ask the witness to answer, yes or no, whether there was any undue influence?" Servatius said.

Less replied firmly, "no." The other two judges also shot a number of questions at Less. One of them, Benjamin Halevy, said he noted "a kind of cross-examination - and this doesn't tally with your other remarks."

"There were sometimes contradictions in what the accused said," Less replied. "I did it for elucidation." Less said Eichmann has written a 127-page recollection of his personal contacts with the top Nazi officials.

N.O. Board Plans New Action

NEW ORLEANS (AP)- The New Orleans School Board took action Monday night which could result in a stepped-up desegregation of the city's public schools. The board said it would begin accepting first grade transfer applications for the 1961-62 school year in compliance with orders of U. S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright last year.

The federal judge ordered first grades integrated and four Negro girls began attending previously all-white schools last Nov. 14. White parents withdrew their children from the two schools, which have been almost completely boycotted since then.

But the board made it clear that not all second grades become subject to desegregation next fall. School Supt. James F. Redmond said that Wright's order was only for the first grade. The city is not under an actual "stair step" integration order as are several other southern cities. Redmond said first grade trans-

Mantle Swats Two Homers in Yankee Win

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Switch-hitting Mickey Mantle belted a pair of two-run homers Wednesday, one right-handed, the other lefty, with the second giving the New York Yankees a 10-inning, 13-11 victory over the Detroit Tigers, who had won eight in a row. Cleveland defeated Baltimore 6-3 and Washington 2-1 in the only other American League games scheduled.

In the National League, San Francisco took a half-game lead by beating Los Angeles 6-5. Pittsburgh defeated Philadelphia 3-2. Milwaukee rapped St. Louis 8-1 and Chicago's Cubs trimmed Cincinnati 3-2 in 10 innings.

Mantle's 10th inning sock off losing southpaw Hank Aguirre (0-1) was his third game-winning home run of the young season and ended the Yankees' losing slump at three. His tying homer came off right-handed rookie Jim Donohue and capped a three-run eighth that wiped out an 11-8 Tiger lead.

Detroit, which hadn't lost since opening day, came from behind after trailing 6-0 going into the second inning against Yank starter Whitey Ford, but then blew an 11-8 lead. Tony Kubek and Roger Maris of the season for the Yankees while Rocky Colavito smacked his third for the Tigers. Reliever Luis Arroyo won his first with two hitless innings.

Cleveland came from behind with three unearned runs on Jim Gentile's fourth-inning throwing error at Baltimore. Winning reliever Barry Latman, Bob Allen and Frank Funk then blanked the Birds on one hit over the last six frames. Bill Fisher (0-2) was the loser.

Texas Open Swings Into Full Action

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—The storied Texas Open, started in 1922 as the first "big money" golf tournament, swings out today with 12 golfers concentrating on beating Arnold Palmer out of the $4,300 top prize.

Palmer, the defending champion, is a mild favorite to repeat but if he does it will be over the best entry in the 35 years of a tournament that once was the top on the winter trail but has been shifted to spring and to a new course.

The $30,000 event will be played over the par 71 6,616-yard Oak Hills Country Club course, which Palmer already has found to be suited to his talents. He shot a 6-under-par 65 in a pro-amateur Tuesday.

Gary Player, the man from South Africa who is leading all the tour players in money won—$46,417.50—will be considered a top threat. There also are 11 others of the leading 12 money-winners, including Jay Hebert, champion here in 1957 and last week-end winner of the Houston Classic. Hebert is the fifth money-earner.

Peter Thomson, the Britisher; Kel Nagle, current British Open champion; Tommy Bolt, Doug Ford, Jack Burke, Dow Finsterwald, Billy Maxwell, Ken Venturi, Mike Souchak and most everybody who has been winning high money on the tour are in the field.

Local Officers Visit Civil Defense Headquarters

CONWAY — Hempstead County Sheriff Jimmy Griffin, along with Hope Police Chief Jack Brown and Fire Chief Ray Yocom, visited the state headquarters of Civil Defense in Conway, and picked up two mobile radios to be used by the county and city police departments. The two-way radios were purchased through the CD matching fund program. While in the CD headquarters the group visited the RACES (Radio Amateur Civil Emergency Service) radio room where CD Communications Officer Wayne Jeffries (seated in the picture) explained the RACES network to them. Jeffries said that RACES is made up of amateur or "Ham" radio operators who will make their time and equipment available to civil defense in the event of an emergency. RACES members would be allowed to remain on the air during a national emergency, while regular amateurs would be required to cease operation. A RACES network was organized in Hope this past week. Charter members of the Hope network are Vic Cobb, Sidney Cash and R. E. Bright. The new RACES members in Hope bring the total membership in the state to 183, with RACES stations now in 30 cities.

New Boating Laws for Arkansas

Arkansas boaters will need to acquaint themselves with six amendments to the state boating safety law. The amendments were passed by the legislature and signed into law by the Governor. The amendments are:

1. "Any vessel propelled by machinery operating anytime from one hour after sunset to one hour before sunrise shall have aboard a light sufficient to make the vessel's presence and location known to all other vessels within a reasonable distance."

Previously the "light" requirement applied only to "motorboats," defined by the Boating Act as "those vessels propelled by machinery of more than ten horsepower."

2. "A ski belt in good and serviceable condition is now authorized equipment for each person on board a motorboat." Previously, only life preservers, buoyant vests, ring buoys or buoyant cushions of the type approved by the U. S. Coast Guard were authorized.

Note: Since this amendment (adding ski belts to the list of approved life preserving equipment) is in conflict with the Federal Boating Act, it (the amendment) does not apply to federal waters.

The Coast Guard defines the following as federal waters: The Arkansas River, St. Francis River and White River, including Lakes Norfolk, Bull Shoals and Table Rock.

3. "No person shall operate a vessel for towing a person on water skis, aquaplane, or similar device unless there is in the vessel a person, in addition to the operator, in position to observe the progress of the person being towed."

"Provided, however, if the towing boat is equipped with a wide-angle marine rear view mirror in a position to observe the skier being towed, the above requirement shall not apply."

4. "Skiing, aquaplaneing, or similar activity is prohibited anytime from one hour after sunset to one hour before sunrise." This does not apply, however, to controlled areas designated for Pitching—Wilmer Mizell, Pirates, gave up first-inning run, then shut out Phillies until ninth for 3-2 decision.

NEW YORK (AP)—Garry Moore, star and principal salesman of his own television program, is in the unusual spot of being reluctant to take a new sponsor on his show. It is, he feels, a matter of personal "integrity."

One of the current sponsors of Moore's Tuesday night CBS variety show is an auto manufacturer. The sponsor will leave the show at the end of the season, and CBS has found another automobile manufacturer who wants to take over the spot next fall.

Moore himself isn't talking for publication about the situation, but a member of his staff confirmed a trade report that the performer feels that if he abruptly switched from praising one make of car to another, the public's faith in him as an individual would be shaken.

Moore, CBS officials and representatives of the prospective sponsor are meeting today in an effort to work out a solution. One move under consideration is to permit Moore to tell the home viewers that, while he still thinks his earlier sponsor's car is just dandy, he also likes the other car, a more expensive model.

Perry Como's producing company, after considerable difficulty in finding some entertainment for a summer replacement for the singer's Wednesday night variety hour, has decided to use English mystery movies, chopped to 60 minutes running time.

Meanwhile, another hour-long mystery series will be used as Dinah Shore's Sunday night replacement for the warm weather series—these, alas, being re-runs of the shows used for the same purpose last summer.

Recommended tonight: "Summer Sports Spectacular," CBS, 7:30-8:30 (Eastern Standard Time)—starting with a tribute to the amateur ice skaters lost in a recent plane crash; "Family Classics," CBS, 9-10—"Jane Eyre," with Sally Ann Howes and Zachary Scott in an adaptation of Charlotte Bronte's novel.

302,250 in State Get Surplus Food

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The state Welfare Department distributed 302,250 pounds of surplus commodities worth $1,186,116 to 302,250 persons in 70 counties during March. Commissioner Carl Adams reported today.

Mississippi County had the greatest number of persons on surplus commodities rolls—25,050. Phillips County had 19,800, St. Francis 19,100, Crittenden 19,000, Jefferson 14,450 and Lee 10,000.

The St. Francis figure represents more than half the county's population of 33,303. Phillips and Crittenden had almost half their residents on surplus commodity rolls.

Dallas, Drew, Hempstead, Pulaski and Sevier did not participate in the program during March.

In addition to commodities distributed to individuals, the Welfare Department sent 154,624 pounds worth $43,890 to 71 institutions and 1,015,844 pounds worth $379,223 to 1,010 schools for 210,543 pupils.

BASS BUGGING DEMANDS PATIENCE

Dropping an inch - long cork bug into the mouth of an 18-inch bass is not done by incantations and the use of black magic. It's done by the use of a modicum of skill, aided by a great deal of practice and garnished with generous helpings of patience that refuses to wear thin after hours of vain effort. Bugging for bass, experts advise, can be done only one way - slowly. Any other approach leaves the angler frustrated, arm - weary and usually fishless.

After a couple of casts of this nature in one spot, move on - either there are no bass in this cover, or they are not interested in the lure you are offering.

Find another bass lair for your lure and try again.

The warrant is for Dale Jerald (Cowboy) Morris, 37, still at large since the encounter Sunday with Detective Jack Merchant.

Mrs. Ethel Williamson, 27, who police said was Morris' companion, received a minor arm wound in the gunfire.

Giants Come From Behind for Victory

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The San Francisco Giants, held hitless for 5 1-3 innings by Stan Williams, came from behind and beat Los Angeles 6-5 for a half-game lead in the National League race Wednesday night. Pittsburgh defeated Philadelphia 3-2, Milwaukee whipped St. Louis 8-1 and the Chicago Cubs beat Cincinnati 3-2 in 10 innings.

In the American League the New York Yankees scored a 13-11 victory in 10 innings over Detroit, Cleveland defeated Baltimore 6-3 and Washington beat Boston 2-1 in the only other games scheduled.

The Giants didn't get a hit off Dodger starter Stan Williams until the sixth. Williams left after giving up a leadoff double by Charlie Hittler in the eighth and the Giants then came from behind with four runs off losing reliever Larry Sherry (0-2). Singles by Harvey Kuenn and Willie Mays tied it 3-all, and the lead run came in when Wally Moon dropped Willie McCovey's easy fly ball to left. Maury Wills' error then loaded the bases, Bob Schmidt's sacrifice fly made it 5-3 and Eddie Bressoud's two-out single brought in the clincher.

Milwaukee roughed up Larry Jackson, the Cubs' ace making his first appearance since suffering a broken jaw in spring training.

Gino Cimoli singled and scored Pittsburgh's first run off loser Dallas Green (1-1) in the first inning, then singled home the clincher in the fourth. Vinegar Bend Mizell (2-0) was the winner.

Don Zimmer's homer broke it up for the Cubs against reliever Jim Maloney (0-1) as bullpen ace Don Elston won his fourth without defeat. Jerry Lynch's third pinch-hit homer of the season scored the Reds run in the seventh. Ron Santo also homered for the Cubs.

Fish Groups Want Land Near Lake

MOUNTAIN HOME, Ark. (AP)—If the federal government declares surplus any of the land in the Lake Norfolk reservoir area, the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission and the Missouri Conservation Commission want it.

The two agencies want their bids at a public hearing Wednesday by Army Engineers. The lake straddles the Arkansas - Missouri border.

Col. A.M. Jacoby, Little Rock Army Engineer, said a study has revealed that about 11,000 acres of the 30,000-acre area apparently are in excess of government needs. But he emphasized that none of the land has been classified as excess yet.

Purpose of the hearing was to find out whether any government agencies had a need for land possibly declared excess, and to hear private property owners who might be damaged by sale of the land.

Jacoby said it would be several months before any decision is made concerning the possible disposal of the land.

The Arkansas Game and Fish Commission said it wanted the land for wildlife conservation purposes.

returned the fire as the man fled. Only Mrs. Williamson was hit.

Police said papers found in Morris' belongings at the Williamson house showed he had been on leave from a 12-year sentence at a Mississippi prison. Mississippi authorities advised them Morris failed to return from the leave to Fort Smith, Ark., last December.

Dean Getting Away From His Old Self

By FRED DANIG
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dean Martin, who split with Jerry Lewis a few years ago, now seems to be splitting up with Dean Martin.

Until his NBC-TV special Tuesday night, I thought we were supposed to equate Dean with drinking, he, and other performers, have diligently built up a legend which says that Dean Martin is the curly-haired custodian of incoherence. But in "The Dean Martin Show" Tuesday night, our elemental elf-child presented a new image: straight and narrow. There were no booze jokes, no drinks being served during the long comedy sketch we were treated to the sight of Dean Martin sitting at a night club table that was uncluttered by glassware of any kind.

The point to all this is that even as Martin switches emphasis in his public personality, he manages to maintain a commanding presence as a performer. He still conveys infectious, convivial charm, but in some ways I'm going to miss his old attitude.

With Dean Tuesday night where Tony Martin and his trained troupe performing some vocal somersaults without the aid of safety nets, and Andy Griffith, who showed some restraint for a change and did well for himself. And then we were treated to Tina Louise, a full-grown gal who delivered a couple of patter songs about sex in a flat-chested voice. But with Tina, who cares? She may sing like Rudolf the Reindeer, but she walks like there is Santa Claus. If she ever gets her own TV show, they should call it "Bonanza."

Anyhow, despite all this help, the hour was dull. Most of the buoyancy came during a care-free final number, "Never on Sunday," in which the four performers joined voices. The rest of the show as bland. Or, to paraphrase the line used by the toothpaste sponsor, "Look, ma, no vitality."

Dialing and Filing: Rocketry had a big share of TV time Tuesday. Before noon, both NBC and CBS carried tapes of the spectacular Atlas failure at Cape Canaveral.

"The Red Skelton Show" also kidded with rocket flight as Skelton and an ape got into orbit. Laughwise, a big fizzle, despite some fascinating facial shenanigans by Skelton.

"Laramie" on NBC-TV presented an episode called "Killer Odds" that owed a lot to Hemingway's "The Killers."

"The Tom Ewell Show" kidded situation comedies and commercials Tuesday night as Ewell turned his attention to home repairs. Ewell is a delightful performer and some of the fragments of solo comedy he chipped out were solid gold.

The Channel Swim: A full-hour weekly series tentatively titled "Carnival Time" is slated for NBC-TV's Friday night schedule next season. The series will feature leading European circuses, including the Circus Togni in Italy, the Vienna Ice Show and

Russia Insists on Veto Demand

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union insisted today on a veto demand that threatens to wreck the three-power nuclear test ban conference.

Wants Views on Closing Public School

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—In a rare move, a three-judge federal court invited the top legal officers of all 50 states today to express their views on abandonment of public schools by a state.

The special panel, headed by Appeal Court Judge John Minor Wisdom, directed the attorneys general of the 50 states polled concerning a Louisiana school desegregation case.

The step is believed to be unprecedented.

The tribunal asked for friend-of-the-court briefs from the state officials in answer to two questions:

1. Would the abandonment of a state's public school system deprive children of rights guaranteed by the 14th Amendment's due process or equal protection clauses?

2. Would the answer be the same if the abandonment were on a local option basis following a vote of the electorate authorizing county school authorities to close public schools?

The action is in connection with a suit by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People attacking the constitutionality of a Louisiana law which permits local option referendums on whether voters want closed or integrated schools.

The law allows school boards to take action.

The NAACP suit was filed on behalf of a group of Negroes in St. Helena Parish which voted overwhelmingly last Saturday to close its schools.

Before the election, the parish school board promised the federal court it would take no action pending a decision in the case.

NBC-TV's "Project 20" unit is at work on "Merrily We Roll Along," a one-hour special dealing with the impact of the automobile on America. The special will be presented as a "DuPont Show of the Week" early next fall.

"Bell & Howell Close-up" for Tuesday, May 9, on ABC-TV is a report on reaction to Kenya's first common role election. Sally Ann Howes and Barry Morse star in "The Leonardo Code," a mystery dealing with backstage intrigue, on CBS-TV's "U.S. Steel Hour" for Wednesday, May 17.

FISKE PAPERS PRESERVED

NEW YORK (AP)—The theatrical papers of Minnie Maddern Fiske, stage star at the turn of the century, have been presented to the Library of Congress.

Included among 23,000 items are letters from Ellen Terry, Olin

Skinner, Dean Howells, Robert Ingersoll, Evangeline Booth, William Gillette, John Drew and Jack London.

Presentation of the material was made by Miss Olive Kooker, a sculptor friend to whom Mrs. Fiske's husband bequeathed the papers. The actress died in 1932.

Required a Pass to Sit in on Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Anyone with a White House press pass could sit in when President Kennedy and some of his top foreign policy advisers talked on Cuba and other world headaches at a two-day conference which ended Tuesday.

The door was open for correspondents on the same basis as other Washington newsmen, at briefing sessions held for editors and columnists from all over the country.

Only one reporter from behind the Iron Curtain was observed listening to the speeches in the State Department's auditorium. He was not a Russian.

Security officers admitted anyone who either had an invitation from Secretary of State Dean Rusk or could present a White House pass. Communist reporters possess such passes.

Officials at the State Department responsible for organizing the conference said it was not their intention to exclude Communist reporters based in Washington.

The rules allowed news coverage of what was said but barred direct quotation or attribution to

Lawyers Have to Answer Question

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court ruled today the states may deny licenses to practice law to applicants who refuse to answer questions as to whether they have been connected with the Communist party.

And it held a state may disbar an attorney for refusing to answer some questions in a judicial inquiry into solicitation of legal business—sometimes called ambulance chasing.

The high court split 5-4 in coming to these conclusions in cases from California, Illinois and New York.

Justice Harlan wrote the majority opinion in all the cases. Leading the dissenters was Justice Black, joined by Chief Justice Warren and Justices Douglas and Brennan.

Details of Shift of Population

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Census Bureau today reported details of a continuing shift in population from depressed states to more prosperous—or sunny—regions.

The report showed that between 1950 and 1960, more people moved out of West Virginia, Mississippi, Arkansas, and Kentucky than any other states.

The biggest gains from migration, in terms of numbers, were in California, Florida, New Jersey and Ohio.

Migration takes into account moves from state to state and the arrival of immigrants from abroad.

West Virginia's population was reduced by 447,000 because of migration between 1950 and 1960, the report estimated. The loss in Mississippi was 434,000, in Arkansas, 433,000 and in Kentucky 390,000.

California gained 3,145,000 from migration during the 10 years. Florida's gain was 1,617,000, New Jersey's 577,000 and Ohio's 409,000.

SNOW HELPS THIEVES
MERRIDEN, Conn. (AP)—Thieves who bashed their way into a supermarket by using a sledge hammer to knock a hole through the store's front wall got an assist from the weatherman.

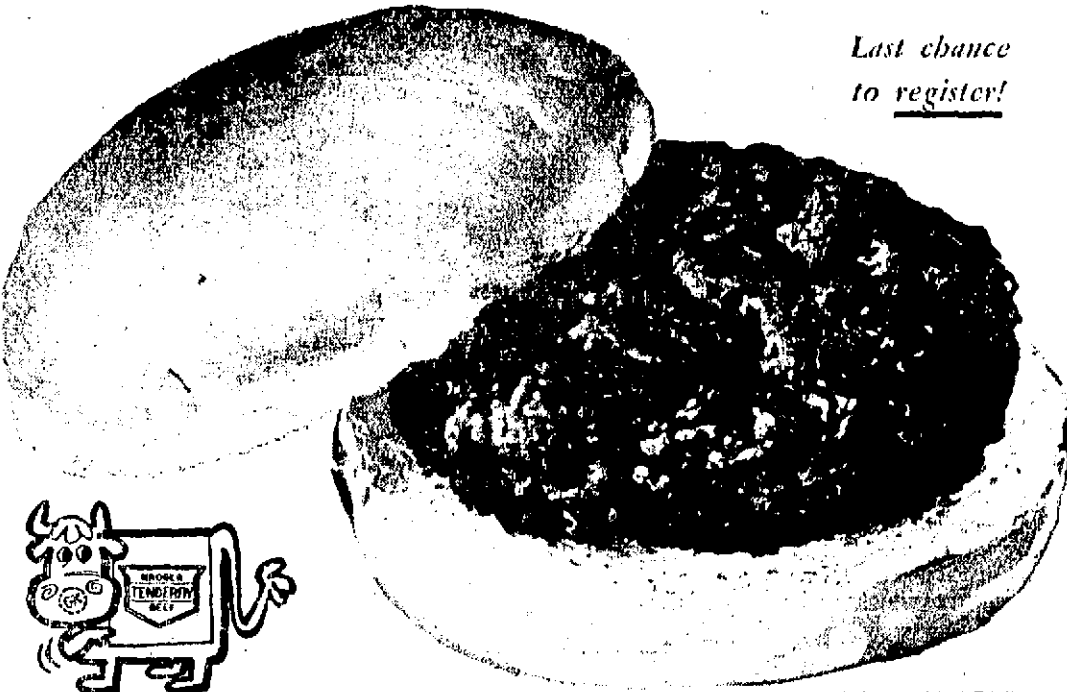

Local police said the burglars escaped notice because they were hidden from view by a towering snow bank on the sidewalk.

Spring Cleaning Made Easy

For quick cleanup jobs store small quantities of bleach and other cleaning aids in labeled containers.

The trick in Spring house cleaning is to clean only part of a room at one time and leave the energy sapping tasks to special duty cleaners such as fabric-safe dry chlorine bleach for laundry, chlorine type scouring powders and liquid all-purpose detergents for walls and floors. It's easy on you, hard on winter stains.

Save time, steps, bending and reaching by toting the cleaning aids in a plastic dishpan to the room to be cleaned. The dishpan also comes in handy for washing walls and windows, collecting toys, emptying drawers, bleaching time-yellowed cotton gloves.

First, give cabinets, closets and drawers an end-of-the-season cleanup. Remove all contents, thoroughly vacuum and wash these storage areas. For beauty and convenience, line the shelves and drawers with gay self-adhesive plastic which wipes clean with a damp cloth. Soiled plastic garment bags welcome a seasonal whirl in an automatic washer with a mild detergent. Store sweaters and other clean woolen garments in airtight vinyl plastic bags with a handful of moth killing paradichlorobenzene nuggets or crystals.

Take down the curtains when you're ready to clean the walls and ceiling. Shake the curtains outdoors to remove the dust before washing them. Most fabrics take beautifully to a quick spin in an automatic washer with detergent and dry chlorine bleach, which is safer to handle than liquid but just as powerful for stain removal and brightening. Tired-looking cotton rugs and washable furniture slip covers thrive on the same treatment. Just follow directions on the dry chlorine bleach package to remove stubborn stains.

Make sure painted walls are washable before tackling them. To cut grease add 1/4 cup of dry chlorine bleach to a gallon of warm water. Banish sink and bathtub stains by sprinkling dry chlorine bleach on the stained surface. Spread it with a damp cloth, rinse and wipe. The floor is the last to be cleaned. Vinyl flooring wipes clean with a sponge and all-purpose detergent. Adding a little bleach to the water helps rout dirt embedded in wood floors.

Pentagon Propaganda Is Costly

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's taking about 460 men and $1.6 million to handle the Pentagon's public relations this year.

A lot of money in everyday terms, although the outlay has been diminishing slowly for several years.

Whether the flow of information from the Pentagon has also diminished is a matter that is being debated.

The Freedom of Information Committee of the American Society of Newspaper Editors (ASNE) has submitted a critical report and aimed mostly at the State and Defense departments.

Involved is the Kennedy administration's freedom of information policies. Newsmen also had complained of restrictive policies under the administration of Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The newspapers editors' committee contended Tuesday that Kennedy was on record "as believing in freedom of information and in his duty to see that the people are informed."

But, the report said, "neither he nor his administration has lived up to his promises."

The White House, in a letter from news secretary Pierre Salinger, said the committee's statement was inaccurate.

The President, he said, expects only information bearing on national security to be withheld "and would welcome reports of any violations of that policy."

Much of the information bearing on national security, of course, develops in the Pentagon.

The Pentagon public relations budget has been diminishing slowly for several years—chiefly as the result of ceilings put on expenditures by Congress. The pending budget for next fiscal year will trim the figure a little more.

The $1.6 million being spent during the fiscal year ending next June 30 isn't all the military spends for public relations. It covers the operations at headquarters in Washington. It does not include public relations operations carried on by the services outside Washington. This could bring the total "PR" bill near the $2 million mark.

Thinks Only a Law Can Halt Unions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said today it may take new federal law to stop labor unions from what he called "gouging the government" for exorbitant overtime pay on military missile projects.

McClellan told reporters that testimony by Air Force and Army officers before his Senate investigations Subcommittee makes it clear something must be done.

McClellan said he was willing to let administrative agencies test their powers to curb improper practices, but that a new law would have to be the answer if this fails.

Meanwhile Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg appealed to workers at "all missile, rocket, space-ship and similar installations" to refrain from strikes no matter what provocation they might have. He said the national interest doesn't permit such strikes.

The investigations subcommittee heard testimony Tuesday that strikes have been called at missile bases for the sole purpose of forcing the payment of overtime wages charged to the government.

GOPs Look to a Cure for Jobless

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican congressional leaders announced today they are setting up a group of experts to devise solutions to the problem of unemployment arising out of automation and other improvements in technology.

Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dickson of Illinois said this was only the first of a series of constructive proposals his party plans to advance in the next few months.

Charles A. Halleck of Indiana House Republican leader, said the unemployment study would be supplemented by a project being developed in the House GOP Policy Committee on the same subject.

The study received the blessing of former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who breakfasted with the congressional leaders of his party before their news conference.

Nixon said he thought it was highly important for the minority party to develop constructive alternatives and "not just be critical."

Envoy to Iran Is Approved

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee today approved President Kennedy's nomination of Julius C. Holmes to be ambassador to Iran. The vote was 12-4.

Holmes has been under attack by Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., and others for his association 14 years ago with quick-profit deals in surplus government oil tankers.

Williams said he will carry his fight against Holmes to the floor of the Senate.

Holmes acknowledged at committee hearings that he realized $220,000 on an investment of $10,000 in a transaction involving five tankers purchased from the Maritime Commission in 1947 and $45,000 on a $300 investment in connection with another transaction involving three tankers.

The tankers came under control of Greek and Chinese Nationalist interests. One of the eight reportedly wound up transporting high octane gasoline for the Soviet Union.

Workers Should Check S. Security

Those in Hempstead county who have reached retirement age (65 for men and 62 for women) and have never inquired about social security benefits because they are still working should talk to a social security representative right away. Otis A. Blackwood, manager of the Texarkana District Office, advises.

Because of a 1960 change in the law, a great number of older persons whose earnings were high enough to keep them from collecting social security benefits, will now be able to receive some benefits during the year.

Up until this year, social security beneficiaries who earned more than $1200 in a year lost one month's social security benefits for each $80 of earnings in excess of $1200. Under the new law, only $1 in benefits is withheld for each $2 of earnings in excess of $1200 and up to $1500. Thus, the beneficiary who earns exactly $1500 would lose $150 in benefit payments.

For earnings above $1500, benefits are reduced $1 for each $1 in earnings.

Mr. Blackwood invites anyone who is now of retirement age and who has not previously asked for information about his rights, to contact the social security representative who comes to Hope each Thursday.

Rules Town Can Legally Issue Bonds

By JOHN J. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Mountain View is a legally-constituted city of the second class and can issue $50,000 in improvement bonds, the Arkansas Supreme Court ruled today.

The opinion came in a suit by T. E. Luther against Mayor John B. Gower and the City Council in an attempt to stop the bond issue.

Luther contended that Mountain View officials had not complied with laws governing formation of cities of the second class because they had not divided the city into wards.

Stone County Chancery Court disagreed, and the Supreme Court affirmed the lower court.

The unanimous opinion agreed with Luther that the city should have been divided into wards but it said the fact this was not done did not destroy legality of the second class status.

The court said Mountain View became a bona fide second class city as soon as it filed with the secretary of state its intention to change its status from that of an incorporated town and showed that voters had approved.

Luther had tried to have results of an election approving the bonds set aside because the voting was carried on at only one polling place.

He said the city should have been divided into wards with a polling place in each ward to make the vote legal.

Since Luther brought the suit, Mountain View has formed wards.

In another opinion, the Supreme Court held that Pulaski Cancellation Guy E. Williams has power to modify an injunction prohibiting real estate agencies from filling in blank spaces on deeds, loan applications, mortgages and the like.

The injunction was issued on order of the Supreme Court in a suit brought by the Arkansas Bar Association which contended that processing of such papers by real estate and abstract companies constituted illegal practice of law.

Sam Block, a Little Rock real estate man, later asked Williams to modify the injunction as it pertained to loan applications.

talk with opposition leaders. That particularly includes members of Congress, Salinger said.

The White House also disclosed that on Wednesday afternoon the President had held a secret meeting with the chairman, Jose Miro Cardona, and five members of the Cuban Revolutionary Committee. Miro Cardona asked the President, Salinger reported, to use his influence with the Organization of American States to prevent the execution of men captured by Castro forces in this week's rebel invasion of Cuba.

Kennedy virtually conceded in his speech to the editors that the invasion, which had the moral support of the U. S. government, had proved a severe disappointment to officials here. He said the news from Cuba has grown worse instead of better. He also said that if the United States ever had to intervene directly it would not "expect or accept the same outcome which this small band of gallant Cuban refugees must have known they were chancing."

Drawing some "useful lessons" from what he called "this sobering episode," Kennedy warned against underestimating Communist forces in Cuba or anywhere else in the world.

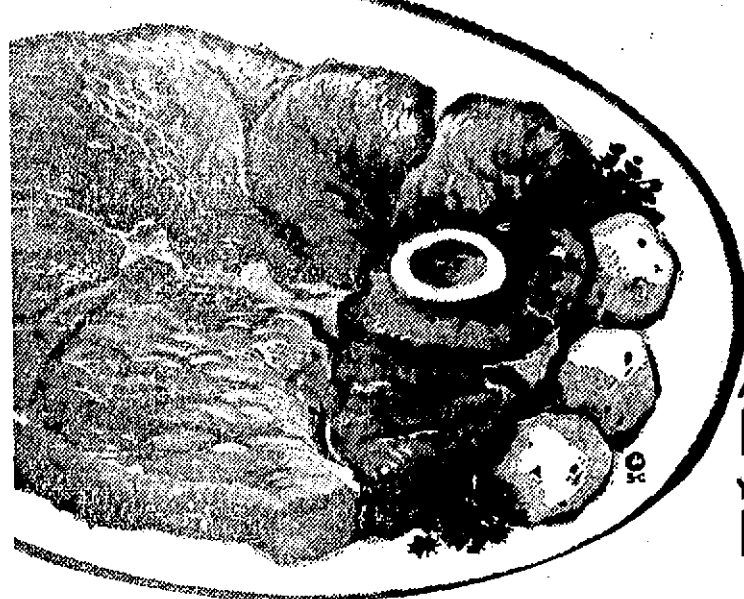

Obviously directing his words to other American nations, he said it is their security which is in peril.

"I'VE TOLD YOU AND TOLD YOU..."—The age-old story of mother protecting child comes to life before the camera lens in its modern form. In Lakewood, Ohio, paddle in hand, Mrs. Marie Richardson has a few things to say to son Johnny, 4. They concern traffic safety and were touched off by Johnny dashing into the street to retrieve a toy. P.S.—Tearful Johnny got the message, spent the rest of the day in the house—and the paddle went unused.

TO HAVE AND TO KILL

THE STORY: More guests arrive for Max Daney's marriage to Laura Reynolds. The latest guest is Julius Stockmaster, a deaf mute author, and his secretary William Darmody.

CHAPTER X
Cecil appeared at the end of the room and spoke quietly to me. "May I see you for a moment, sir?"

"Sure," I excused myself to the others and followed Cecil out into the passageway leading to the main hall.

As always when we're alone, or just with Max, Cecil dropped his deferential servant's manner. He grinned at me and I said, "What's up, kid?"

"Miss Reynolds just called from the airport, demanding to know why Max wasn't there to meet her. I explained that he had not returned from a business trip, but was expected home tomorrow. I offered to pick her up, but she said she'd take a cab. Why don't Max tell me these things?"

"About meeting her at the airport? Maybe Max's — ah — other troubles caused him to forget," Cecil said. "I can't figure this sudden marriage deal."

"Subconscious mother hatred," I said. "Reprisal against maternal domination. What else is on your mind?"

"Mrs. Daney," Cecil said. "I'll tell Miss Reynolds and the others that Mrs. Daney is indisposed, that she conveys her regrets. Miss McQueen will leave before noon tomorrow. You find out when she can get a train to Chicago and let me know. When Max returns tomorrow, he's on his own. You and I have had it, Cecil."

"Amen," he said. "I'll call the station now and get back to my poker game."

"Poker? Who're you playing with? Florine?"

He shook his head. "With Mr. Stockmaster's secretary and companion, a gentleman named William Darmody, who is also a deaf-mute. We communicate by messages. He's a sharp poker player." Cecil paused, grinned at me and added, "Say, that Dixie McQueen is a cute little dish."

"You said it, kid. She asked if you were married and she thinks you're handsome. Maybe she's not so far from Max, she'd seem for you."

"Nice setting," Cecil said. "If you're a good boy, I might let you drive her to the train tomorrow."

"Gee, thanks," Cecil said. "My love life has been a little skimpy lately."

"Just so you get her on the train. How about some fishing in the morning?"

"Okay," Cecil said. "The perch are hitting off Island Rock and I've been saving some minnows. Five o'clock?"

I shuddered. "Make it six."

"All right. We can get in a couple of hours before the caterer arrives. I'll have to be on deck then. Meet me in the kitchen for breakfast."

"Good. I'll be there."

Cecil moved away and I returned to the library. Julius Stockmaster had pulled his chair close to the divan where Sandy and Dixie McQueen were sitting. Stockmaster stood up, tapped his glass, which was empty except for melting ice cubes, bowed slightly, gestures which told me that he was excusing himself to get another drink.

Cecil entered and said to me, "Excuse me sir, but there is a train leaving for Chicago at 11:10 in the morning."

"Thank you, Cecil. Would you be kind enough to drive Miss McQueen to the station?"

"Of course." Never batting a lash, he turned to Dixie. "Miss, we should leave here no later than 10:30."

"I'll be ready," Dixie looked directly at me and tilted her small chin. "If I decide to leave."

I said sternly, "Listen Dixie, you're leaving in the morning, whether you want to or not. You be ready at 10:30."

"I'll leave now!" she flared. "Oh, no, you won't. Everything is geared for the morning." I paused, and then added in a soft tone, "I understand your position and I'm sorry—we're all sorry. But we're merely trying to handle it as tactfully as possible, for your sake and Max's. You're leaving in the morning."

Julius Stockmaster strolled into the room, grinning happily and carrying a full glass, apparently having found the whiskey without anyone's help. Being deaf, he would not have heard the ominous sound of the car door slamming outside, not even if he had been in the library with its open screened windows, as the rest of us were. He advanced to the room teetered slightly on his heels and waved us a friendly, silent greeting.

I tried to size him up. He had been unknown to me before Max had mentioned him, but I was unfamiliar with the literary profession.

For all I knew, Julius Stockmaster could be a wealthy and successful writer whose books sold to Hollywood for fabulous sums. He was well dressed, if casually, and quite assured, in spite of his physical impairment. And he was a friend of Laura Reynolds, invited at her request.

Suddenly a woman strode into the room as if she lived there. Cecil appeared behind her and announced her gravely. "This is Miss Reynolds."

American Board Bars the Cubans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Inter-American Defense Board today barred Cuba from participating in its secret sessions so long as Cuba is in "evident alliance with the Soviet bloc."

The board is an inter-American agency charged with planning hemisphere defense against foreign aggression.

The proposal banning Cuba was presented by the United States. The vote was 12-1 with four abstentions and one vote reserved.

Cuba cast the opposition vote. Mexico, Venezuela, Ecuador and Chile abstained. Brazil reserved its vote.

Venezuela's non-participation was understood to have been based not on any sympathy for the Fidel Castro regime, but on the contention that the resolution before the board was a decision involving political affairs on which the Venezuelan delegation had received no specific instructions from the government.

Tape Made Morning After Awards

By BOB THOMAS AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The following is a transcript of a tape recording made the morning after the Academy Awards. It is a conversation between a famous film actress, who shall be nameless, and her agent, Joe Mudd.

Nameless—There you are, you stupid idiot!

Joe—You always look your best when you're upset, baby. Your coloring is superb!

Nameless—How long can I put up with your moronic blundering? Joe — Have some coffee, darling!

Nameless — All the other stars are taking their money to Switzerland. But you insisted that I invest in that Cuban hotel!

Joe — I can't understand Fidel doing that to us. Cream and sugar, sugar?

Nameless—And that TV special you talked me into!

Joe — That was the network's fault, baby doll.

Nameless — But the climax of your stupidity came last night. Joe—You mean the Oscars, angel face? I caught the show. Kind of a drag.

Nameless — First Shirley Jones got the Oscar for playing a harlot. Then Liz Taylor got hers for playing a call girl. Melina Mercouri, Shirley MacLaine, Janet Leigh, Mary Ure—they all got nominations for playing fast and loose.

What did I get? The P-T-A seal of approval!

Joe—I told you we should have taken some ads, sweetheart.

Nameless—For what? Those two all-American girls I played last year?

Joe—You were magnificent in those pictures, baby.

Nameless—You know it and I know it, but who else does? And

Bill Designed to Create Harmony

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy sends Congress proposals Thursday to eliminate conflicts of interest among government officials and employees.

Since taking office, Kennedy has circulated instructions designed to keep members of his administration above suspicion. His message will cover the entire subject and recommend legislation to insulate government personnel from outside influences.

Nameless—Forget the lamb bit. That won't win me an Oscar. I want you to give me a part as a streetwalker.

Retired GE Official May Testify

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators investigating price fixing in the electrical equipment industry today invited Robert Paxton, recently retired president of the General Electric Co., to testify next week.

Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., chairman of the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee wrote Paxton that if he declined the invitation, it was very possible he might be subpoenaed.

"Charges have been made that you were involved in decisions to have employees of GE meet with competitors for the purpose of fixing prices and dividing markets," Kefauver said in his letter to Paxton.

A GE representative told newsmen he had been informed that Paxton will appear on one of the three days mentioned by Kefauver.

Says Rails Have Right to Piggyback

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP)—William J. Smith, attorney for the Missouri Pacific Railroad and legal adviser to Gov. Orval E. Faubus, said Monday night that railroads have a right to furnish the traveling and shipping public the cheapest and best transportation that can be provided.

Smith spoke at a meeting of rail- ver—May 3, 4 or 5.

The subcommittee has been told by former GE officials who pleaded guilty to government charges of price fixing that Paxton was among top management executives of GE who directed and encouraged illegal meetings with competitors to fix prices.

In a statement released here Tuesday, Paxton said the Justice Department had neither charged nor claimed that he had any knowledge of price-fixing conspiracies within the industry.

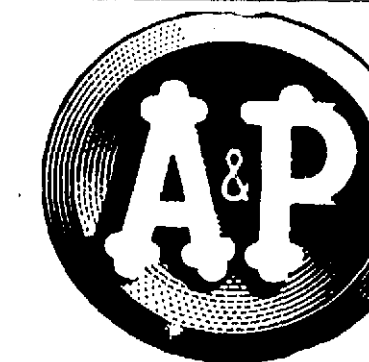

road labor and management to mass opposition to the Teamsters Union's attack on railroad "piggybacking."

Piggybacking is the practice of hauling truck trailers on railroad flatcars. The Teamsters Union, led by President Jimmy Hoffa, says this cuts down on truckers' jobs. The railroads claim the truckers took the business away from the railroads in the first place.

Smith was one of 13 speakers at the meeting, a duplicate of one held Sunday night for the same purpose.

The audience was told to write congressmen to block two bills that would limit the railroads' selective rate cutting. They would restrict the railroads' privilege of reducing rates in selected areas in competition with other transportation industries. The railroads claim Hoffa instigated the legislation.

Money was collected to help finance the battle. Another meeting was set for tonight.

Recommends Changes in Airports

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Aviation Agency apparently is satisfied with airports at eight Arkansas cities, but it has recommended new or improved fields at 43 other places in the state.

The Arkansas recommendations were included in an FAA report to Congress on Monday.

Nationwide the agency recommended 465 new airports and improvements to 2,834 existing ones.

FAA didn't suggest any changes at airports at Brinkley, Carlisle, Jonesboro, Newport, Pine Bluff, Rogers, Stuttgart and Walnut Ridge.

Wayne, Augusta, Dumas, Malvern, Marked Tree and Mount Ida were designated as needing airports.

FAA Administrator N. E. Halaby said the plan is a report on airport needs which should be satisfied during the next five years to keep pace with the growth of aviation.

He said the entire program would cost about $1.1 billion dollars, but he added that the plan does not mean that either the local community or the federal government agrees to or is committed to begin the improvements or take part in financing them.

In the past, such costs have been shared by the federal government and the state or local governments involved. The FAA report listed city by city and state by state all the airports that should be built or improved.

Of the total cost, about $900 million would be needed for buying land, preparing sites and paving taxiways and parking areas. The remaining $200 million would go into improvements.

FAA didn't break down its cost estimates by state or municipalities. The FAA estimates air traffic

JFK's Father Said England Had Lost War

WASHINGTON (AP)—Joseph P. Kennedy, father of President Kennedy and who was U.S. ambassador to London in 1938-40, advised President Franklin D. Roosevelt in September 1940 that Britain had lost World War II, a Nazi German document alleged.

A German Embassy message to Berlin said Kennedy "warned the president urgently not to take irreparable steps. England was finished (completely) through, and the U.S.A. would have to pay the bill."

Another message from the embassy in Washington the next month told Berlin that Nazi diplomats hoped Charles A. Lindbergh, the aviator, could counterbalance Roosevelt's efforts to prepare the United States for entry into the war.

Both documents are among German archives now being released by the State Department.

The message purporting to give Ambassador Kennedy's views was marked "top secret" and was signed by Hans Thomsen, charge d'affaires in the Washington embassy. A footnote in the volume released by the State Department said the words "completely through" were in parentheses in English in the German original.

As for where his information originated, Thomsen wrote: "Source: The reliable informant known to you."

Kennedy, according to the German message, reported in a telegram received by Roosevelt Sept. 27, 1940, that British Prime Minister Winston Churchill was severely and publicly criticized in England; that Greece, Yugoslavia and Turkey "would seek to join the Axis because England no longer impressed them"; and that "the English will try very hard to bring the U.S.A. into the war as soon as possible."

The message regarding Lindbergh was signed by Thomsen and Gen. Friedrich von Boetticher, the Nazi military attache, and dated Oct. 16, 1940.

"Lindbergh's influence is growing. His commanding spirit takes the lead in circles which can be decisive for America's future attitude toward us and in combatting the fight of international Jewry directed against Germany," the message said.

Says Court in Impossible Position Now

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A federal court ruling in a Negro's case has placed Pulaski County Circuit Court's criminal division in an impossible situation, Asst. Atty. Gen. Thorp Thomas said today.

Thomas asked the 8th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals for a rehearing in the case of Luther Bailey of nearby Woodson, who was convicted and sentenced to death for the rape of a Little Rock white woman in 1955.

The appellate court reversed his conviction on grounds of apparent discrimination in selection of circuit court jurors.

It noted that no Negroes had served on juries in the second and third divisions of circuit court in recent years.

Thomas said, however, that these divisions try only civil matters and that jury selection there could have no bearing on the Bailey case.

Circuit Judge William J. Kirby has suspended jury trials of Negroes pending a request for a rehearing, saying that any convictions resulting from such trials apparently could be overturned under the Bailey decision.

Attorneys for three Negro teenagers accused of rape then contended that this violated constitutional guarantees of a speedy trial and also that it amounted to separate court policies for Negroes and whites.

Kirby turned down their request for a speedy trial or release on bond.

Escapees Are Arrested

NEWPORT, Ark. (AP) — Two youths who told police they escaped from Alcoa Reformatory at Jefferson City, Mo., were arrested near here today.

The two identified themselves as Richard Laws, 19, of St. Louis, and Leroy Langston, 18, of Kansas City.

Police quoted them as saying their station wagon had been stolen from a small town, whose name they did not know, near Jefferson City.

Police radio dispatcher Keith Kennedy was driving to work on Highway 67 north when he tried to stop the car for a check.

He said the driver headed off the road and into a field, where the car got stuck.

The two occupants jumped out and fled into the woods, but were flushed later by Kennedy and other officers whom he summoned.

Kennedy and Officer Charles Lancaster said Laws told them he was serving a five-year term for some 60 burglaries in the St. Louis area.

Langston was quoted as saying he was serving two years for robbery.

Extends Secret Service Guarding

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has asked Congress to extend Secret Service protection for the vice president and former presidents.

He also asked stiffer penalties for persons who threaten the vice president-elect.

The White House explained Monday that the request was not prompted by any recent incident but rather by a desire to close gaps in the present law.

Air Force Wants to Push B70

WASHINGTON (AP)—Air Force leaders testified today they personally believe the jet bomber B70 should be pushed ahead rapidly despite President Kennedy's decision to cut it back and delay it.

Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert and Gen. Thomas D. White, chief of staff, both told senators that the White House and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, had overruled their recommendations to push the B70 as the nation's future manned bomber.

Sen. Dennis Chavez, D-N.M., presiding at a public hearing on the new $4.4-billion defense money bill, told both witnesses he asked "your candid opinions."

"I think it is a mistake," Chavez told them of the top-level decision to save some $130 million by holding the B70 program to an experimental aircraft instead of pressing for a complete weapon delivery system.

Asks Law to Bar Monopoly Trend

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy asked Congress today for two new laws designed to strengthen antitrust enforcement.

Both have been asked earlier by the Eisenhower administration.

1. Require large companies planning merger to give advance notice to the Justice Department, and

2. Empower the department to compel business firms to turn over requested records in civil antitrust investigations.

Bills to do these things have been before Congress since 1956.

Demos Plan Fund Raising Dinner

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats are planning a $100-a-plate dinner May 27 for 6,000 persons to celebrate President Kennedy's birthday and enrich the party's coffers.

Actually, it's two days ahead of the President's birthday—May 29. He'll celebrate that one in Boston.

The President will speak at the dinner. He and his wife will be guests of honor along with Vice President and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, Democratic leaders in Congress, and Democratic governors.

Turnpike Driving Tips—

DO'S	DON'TS
 Check interior, side view mirrors before passing.	 Stop on pavement. If you must stop, use shoulder.
 Take time out for a snack. Stop will refresh you.	 "Tailgate" other cars or travel in bunched-up traffic.
 Reduce speed under any condition lessening visibility.	 Ride in another driver's blind spot but pass quickly.
 If drowsy, pull off road and grab 40 winks.	 Cut back too fast when passing. A long sweep is safest.

Authorities operating high speed turnpikes and thruways stress that observance of a few basic rules by motorists brings safety as its reward. Alternative is death or injury. Speed and fatigue are the great killers. "Do" illustrations above are common sense precautions. The "Don'ts" cite potential perils. Important: Never cut back into lane while passing until left headlamp of car behind is visible in your inside mirror.

Rules Local Interest Out of Defense

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara today shifts in military requirements and spending under the administration's reappraisal of defenses cannot be softened "to accommodate local or private interests."

Hard choices must be made and "pressures of special interest groups resisted," he said.

In his first formal address as secretary, the former Ford Motor Co. executive said, however, that steps were being taken to ease the impact on communities and industries of military contract cancellations and closing of bases.

McNamara's views were in an address prepared for a luncheon of Associated Press members holding their annual meeting.

In developing the new pattern for defense, McNamara said, he received two basic instructions from President Kennedy:

- 1. The defense program "must not be constructed within arbitrary budget ceilings."
- 2. While the size and form of the military organization were undergoing reappraisal to make sure they were adequate and up-to-date, "at the same time every possible effort must be made to eliminate waste, duplication and unjustifiable expenditure."

The preliminary reappraisal has been completed and the results incorporated into the new budget proposals, McNamara said.

"Our predecessors did a thorough job in preparing their program. As a result of the work we were able to do, however, we have reached different conclusions in a number of areas," the secretary said.

He then listed points already contained in the Kennedy defense budget, among them increases in the Polaris submarine force, Minuteman missile production and long-range airlift for troops and cutbacks in other production items and base closings.

"Further temporizing on experimental nuclear aircraft will be brought to a halt. The development program for the B70 aircraft will be modified. It will be possible to cancel the last two squadrons in the Titan missile program," McNamara said.

"I cite these savings not because economy can be the pri-

Guatemala Wants to Deport Thug

GUATEMALA (AP) — President Miguel Ydigoras today ordered the deportation of Carlo Marcello, New Orleans underworld character who was expelled from the United States last month. The president also fired Ramon Gonzalez Ovalle, chief of Guatemala's special investigation department, for freeing Marcello without consulting his police superiors. He ordered him arrested. Ydigoras told newsmen it had not been decided where Marcello would be sent but added: "We'll certainly ship him out. We don't want people of his type who come here and create a series of problems."

Marcello was arrested last Friday and accused of using a false Guatemalan birth certificate to enter the country. He had been deported from the United States last month as an undesirable alien.

many objective of the department of defense. I do so rather to emphasize what can be accomplished if hard decisions are made and if the pressures of special interest groups are resisted."

Rubinoff's Violin Worth $100,000

When Rubinoff appears in Hope in a program of popular concert music, he will play on one of the most precious instruments in the world, the famed Romanoff-Stradivarius violin insured for $100,000.

The violin is famous for its silken, lustrous tone, its full range and almost unbelievable depth. Made in 1731 by the master of all violin makers, this particular "Strad" eventually found its way into the hands of the Romanoffs, one time rulers of Russia, and still bears the bejeweled crest of that family. During the revolution it was smuggled out of Russia and eventually was purchased by Mr. Rubinoff. Sensitive to heat, humidity, altitude and the risks that beset any treasure of such vast value, the Stradivarius is guarded and handled with deference and extreme care at all times. The ancient instrument still retains the original varnish and is the acme of perfection in musical instruments.

An interesting fact is that during certain passages of "Warsaw Concerto" Rubinoff exerts as much as 60 pounds of pressure on the violin. It takes tremendous strength of highly developed muscular action to draw certain tones from one of the world's most delicate instruments.

Rubinoff will appear at the High School auditorium Friday, May 5. Rubinoff's appearance in Hope is being sponsored by the Rotary Club.

Secondary Boycotts Opposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spokesmen for the National Association of Manufacturers and for 26 state chambers of commerce today opposed a bill to legalize secondary boycotts in the construction industry.

Charles A. Kothe of New York, NAM vice president, told a House Labor subcommittee the bill could be construed to legalize virtually any action a union might wish to take so long as it was restricted to a construction site.

A secondary boycott is one placed by workers against a firm with which they have no grievance but which is doing business with a firm with which they are in dispute.

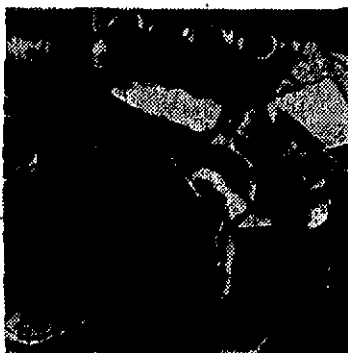

William A. Brown, a Houston, Tex., attorney, said the legislation is not required, as its proponents say, to give building trade unions equal rights with industrial workers. Industrial unions, he said, do not now have and would not have under the bill, the right to engage in secondary boycotts.

Brown said he represented the state chambers of commerce of 26 states.

STOP THAT RACKET

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) A major electrical manufacturing company spent several hundred thousand dollars to build a large soundproof room in which they tested the quietness of motors. Company executives were proudly showing it to a group of visiting engineers when the cathedral-like quiet of the immense room was broken by the chirp of a cricket.

Help Yourself To Spring Food!

Spring weather can be sweet and balmy, or rainy and miserable. Whichever, mealtimes and snack-times are still at hand.

Whether your project is feeding spring athletes, wet young ones, active members of the den pack, Girl Scout troop or your important family... soup answers the need. A large tureen of exciting, perhaps even mysterious soup partners... like canned condensed cream of celery and chicken vegetable... is worth consideration. You can tantalize all spring appetites with these partners!

For fun and frolic... provide large soup bowls and plates. Set up a "help yourself" tureen of CELERY 'N' CHICKEN SOUP. Arrange a "make-it-yourself" tray of sandwich fixings, perhaps several kinds of bread, softened cheeses, pickles, relishes, deviled eggs, and early spring scallions. Your table will say "great welcomes" for spring eating!

Celery 'n' Chicken Soup
1 can (10 3/4 ounces) condensed cream of celery soup
1 can (10 3/4 ounces) condensed chicken vegetable soup
1 soup can water
1 soup can milk
In saucepan, blend soups and liquid. Heat, stirring often. Makes 4 to 6 servings.
